Split Second Timing for USSA Masters FAQ Turn Off Autosort

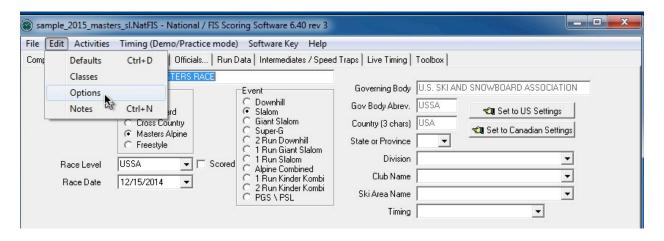

Import tip: turn off the autosort option when you are working on a masters race!!! There are a number of situations where you may want to sort the competitor list manually and you do not want the list resorted automatically whenever a start list or results report is generated.

When autosort is turned off, you can still have the standard sort performed whenever you generate a report – each time you run a report you will be prompted whether to have Split Second sort the competitors list according to the standard order for the report being created. You're not losing any of the report sorting by turning off automatic sorting – you're just putting yourself in control so YOU can decide when Split Second will sort your competitor list. If you have already prepared the competitor list so it is sorted into a desired order, just say no!

WHAT TO DO

In the menu bar at the top of the Split Second window, select the Options choice from the Edit menu to open the Options settings for Split Second. Ensure that the option is Automatically Sort when generating reports in NOT checked!!!
